Keeping the Community Afloat

The Winners of the 2015 Wanderer Keel Awards

By Jean Perry

The communities of our Tri-Town are special, and what makes them special are the people who live in them, the people who work in them, govern them, and those who volunteer their time for the highest good of their town.

This is why, once a year, we at The Wanderer are excited to bring forward three distinctive people from each of the three towns to recognize their hours of community service and dedication to their town, and honor their innumerable contributions that keep each of the communities afloat, like the keel of a ship that keeps the vessel from capsizing.

This year, citizens from each town submitted the names of some pretty spectacular nominees for the 2015 Wanderer Keel Award. Three of them really stood out to us, and we are thrilled to announce the winners of this year's award: From Mattapoisett, the late Ruth Bates; from Marion, Robbi Dunn-Tracy; and from Rochester, Gordon Helme.

Mattapoisett resident Ruth Bates, who passed away on November 14, 2014, was known as "an unabashed tree hugger" – a Lorax of Mattapoisett of sorts. She was one of the original members of the Tree Committee, a volunteer Bay Watcher for the Buzzards Bay Coalition, a trustee of the Mattapoisett Historical Society, and a trustee of the Mattapoisett Land Trust.

Ruth's husband Richard Bates said, even just a few months before she died, she was attending Tree Committee hearings as a resident to ensure that any trees to be taken down by the Town were properly surveyed and not unnecessarily removed. She was known as a woman who would speak her mind in public meetings when it came to what she cared about most.

"She just loved the town," said Bates. "When we would go on vacation, often we'd come back and she'd say, 'Take a look at this town as if you were looking at it for the first time. What do you think? It's pretty beautiful, don't you think?" Bates said his wife would ask him. "Why would you leave it?" she would then say.

Bates said Ruth just loved Mattapoisett and never concerned herself with personal recognition or monetary compensation.

"She just had a love of the town and the people," said Bates. "She was always too embarrassed to actually accept something like this (Keel Award)," he said. "She'd have put a quash to that in a hurry."

Marion Keel Award recipient Robbi Dunn-Tracy keeps busy in Marion with her work in the health care administration business, family, and the various groups to which she belongs. But she is never too busy to lend a hand to her neighbors whenever they are in need of assistance, says Kathi Rogers, who nominated Dunn-Tracy.

A member of the Sippican Woman's Club, Dunn-Tracy likes what the group stands for and how they devote their efforts to raising funds for scholarships for local students. Dunn-Tracy said what she enjoys most is supporting and promoting the good things in the community, which she did for a time on her own community access show on ORCTV, up until a couple years ago.

"When people view our community, I want them to see all the positive things that can go on in the area," said Dunn-Tracy. "If I see something good to be done, I'll promote it."

Dunn-Tracy has also done volunteer work with Gifts to Give of New Bedford, an organization that provides food, clothing, and toys to local families in need, in which she says she truly believes.

She was reluctant to talk about all the good work she has done, because, as one can gather from speaking with Dunn-Tracy, she is all about the helping and not at all about the recognition.

"You do things for others that you would want done for yourself or your family," said Dunn-Tracy. "That's how I was raised. I saw my own parents doing it ... and obviously I'm trying to be a good role model for my kids."

Dunn-Tracy said one would be surprised by the need that exists in Tri-Town, saying one wouldn't expect there to be a significant amount of families who need help with food or shelter or clothing, but the need is there.

"We are all so fortunate to be members of this community," said Dunn-Tracy. "But you never know what happens behind closed doors."

Instead of focusing on her own good work, Dunn-Tracy often changed the subject to shift towards other community members whom she said deserved the Keel Award instead of her. Rogers respectfully disagrees.

"I truly believe that Robbi represents all that is good about Marion and what makes it a wonderful community in which to live," said Rogers. "Her actions help keep Marion on 'an even keel.'"

According to Director of the Rochester Council on Aging Sharon Lally, Helme is an asset to the community.

"He saves people a lot of money and aggravation," said Lally. "He's just a wonderful guy."

Two years ago, Helme assisted roughly 250 Rochester seniors. This past fiscal year, he said he assisted about 125.

"I don't know if it's because I've been doing a good job, or they don't like my service," laughed Helme.

Helme said throughout his past employment, he has always worked with people. He was also the regional veterans' officer for the New England U.S. Small Business Administration.

When asked why he devotes so much time to the Rochester C.O.A. – three days a week with the SHINE Program, as well as sitting on the Rochester C.O.A Board of Directors – while also spending two days a week at the New Bedford Veterans' Services Office, he simply said, "Because I enjoy it."

Swordfish Tales

Mattapoissett Historical Society Museum

By Marilou Newell

By the age of ten, Tom Brownell had witnessed the thrill and the danger associated with swordfishing.

One day, while hunting for swordfish, about 30 miles south of Martha's Vineyard with his Dad, a fish was "ironed." But on this day, the enormous animal reared up from underneath their boat and pierced the deck clear through the planking with its massive sword. The surprised youth and his father quickly stuck rags into the breach not unlike putting a finger in a dike.

On July 23, Brownell and his hunting partner of many years, John Clark, told a group gathered at the Mattapoissett Historical Society Museum to hear fishing tales, "...we've got so many stories..." Thus, Brownell and Clark shared a few of those tales and, as they spoke, their eyes seemed to view the scenes they were describing in that far distance of time where the horizon meets the sea.

They talked about the mechanics involved in hunting these great fish. To 'iron' a swordfish means to spear it with a special tool that allows the spearhead to disengage from the shank. The spear is attached to a long rope line. On the other end is a large ball. Once speared, the swordfish swims until exhausted while the hunters follow, waiting for the opportunity to bring the huge animal aboard the boat.

Brownell said, during his youth, he fished with Earl Broadman of Hollywood in a boat built by Brownell's family business. Each summer, he would go on as many as 35 fishing trips. After that, Brownell began partnering with Tommy Borges (now deceased) and John Clark. He said each man had his own finely-honed individual skills and jobs during the hunt. Borges was the wheelman, Clark was the spotter and angler, and Brownell was the striker, spearing the fish. They were tuned in to each other, had confidence in each other, and were successful for that reason the men shared.

"Johnny would tend the line. Tommy would steer the boat, putting the sun to my back, said Brownell. "Tommy knew just how I liked it and put me right on the fish. I was the striker." Brownell demonstrated the stance he would take as he spoke.

Striking the fish needed to be precise to set the spearhead. Then the fish would take off trailing 300 feet of line. It would take up to 60 minutes before they could attempt landing the fish. Clark never took his eye off the ball and when the time came, Brownell said, "Johnny did most of the fighting with the fish."

Brownell described the perfect hunting day as one where "we had popcorn skies" and flat calm waters. He said Clark could spot a swordfish fin yards away.

Fishing began in June and ended in September. They went out to sea "every good day," Brownell remembered. And for more than 30 years, he remembered many good days.

During the season, swordfish migrate north following baitfish. The men would head out around dawn and return after dark. It took two to three hours to reach the hunting grounds some 30 miles south of Martha's Vineyard.

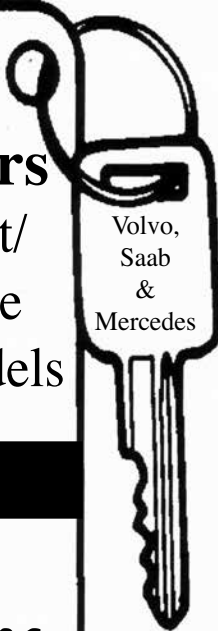

And swordfish weren't the only fish they saw. He said the ocean was full of all types of sharks and whales. Clark remembered what he saw on one day in particular.

"Acres of black whales, as far as the eye could see, sleeping on the surface of the water," said Clark.

Seth Mendell, who was among the assembled to hear these men speak, offered the following explanation, "Whales are mammals and have to sleep on the surface of the water so they can breath. They are the only mammals who can shut off half of their brains while sleeping, while the other half keeps them breathing."

The biggest swordfish the trio ever brought in weighed 504 pounds after being "dressed." But the very best day of his fishing life was July 17, 1983. On that day, they landed six fish weighing from 190 to 400 pounds.

Brownell said that swordfishing's heydays ended around 1985 with the arrival of factory ships from Russia invading George's Banks.

"At night, there were so many huge ships from Russia all lit up, it looked like a city on the ocean," said Brownell. He said these industrial ships used long nets sweeping everything out of the water from fish, to sharks, to whales, everything. "And the water seemed to warm up a lot," which Brownell said contributed to the decline of baitfish.

When the fishermen first began selling their catch to local restaurants, the price was around 25 cents per pound. That figure rose to six dollars per pound by 1985.

Brownell said, of the years he fished with Tommy

The Barnacle Whisperer

By Marilou Newell

Michelle Cusolito is an educator, naturalist, author, and to a group of folks gathered at the Mattapoisett Library on July 28, she was the "Barnacle Whisperer."

Cusolito told about 20 young people from ages 8 to 12 that barnacles are amazing animals, whose lives along our coast can only be seen at low tide. But it is during the high tide that they are active, albeit rather hard to see without a magnifying glass or a snorkel.

Before arriving at the Mattapoisett Library to impart barnacle wisdom to this thoroughly engaged group, Cusolito made a visit to Ned's Point and collected rocks encrusted with barnacles and brought them in large pails of seawater.

First, she had the children examine the rocks, noting that the barnacles were very tiny. She then handed out magnifying glasses in order to bring the tiny crustaceans into better view.

After asking the kids to jot down some thoughts about what they observed, she placed the rocks into clear bins and then slowly splashed sea water over them, mimicking a rising tide. She told the children to give the barnacles a bit of time and then to observe any changes.

Aubrey, Daniel, Sarah, Annie, Connor, Cameron, Meghan, Violet, Alex and others waited patiently, just as scientists in all disciplines must when studying nature. They were waiting for the barnacles to open up and release their feeding legs.

Sarah said, "Oh, that smell!" as she peered into the container on her table and waited for the barnacles to open. Cusolito cautioned the kids that when studying nature, one had to be patient – there was a great deal of waiting involved in science.

As they waited, Violet asked Cusolito, "Do you know what happens?" Science involves a bit of skepticism, too, it seems. Cusolito chuckled and replied that yes, she did.

Cusolito has given talks on barnacles to students and to educators helping the latter group to understand the complexities of these tiny creatures as they develop materials for their own classes.

This group of curious minds learned that barnacles will attach themselves to any slow moving or stationary object – be it a ship, a whale, or a rock. They are hermaphrodites and their offspring voraciously consume plankton, grow, molt, and then settle down to find a home. They excrete a type of organic brown glue used to attach their bodies to the object of their desired home site. This substance is so strong that it is being studied for possible use in dental applications. Things that make you go "hmm," or from this group, "Oh, yuck!"

Earlier in the afternoon, Cusolito pointed out that the Tri-Towns' libraries are part of the MOBY program, path when asking for a license to conduct business in Mattapoisett, another found bumps in the road.

Katherine Gauvin, a local resident, came before the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen on July 23 requesting permission to operate a catering and food concession truck in Mattapoisett serving what she described as "healthy" sandwiches. That prompted Selectman Chairman Jordan Collyer to exclaim, "What, no bacon?"

Alice's Food Truck, as Gauvin explained, will provide on-site catering services for events, fairs, or special occasions. The truck will be fully fitted with Board of Health approved operating kitchen equipment and sanitation practices. Gauvin's request was approved.

Also approved was Eric Desrosiers' request for a Class II Used Dealer's License to sell used automobiles online, but not before Vera Gibbons, his landlady, complained and voiced concerns.

"Captains Way is a private residential road," said Gibbons. "We wouldn't want business there." Her concern was that used cars would be paraded on the roadway and increase traffic due to Desrosiers' conducting business from the home she owns.

Gibbons even went so far as to say his living arrangement might be put in jeopardy if he was permitted to do business – even paperwork – from the residence.

After being told by Collyer to settle down, and that restrictions on how Desrosiers conducted business could be included in the license, Gibbons said, "Strike

Police Chief Mary Lyons was present to say she had no problem with the business when asked for her opinion. Desrosiers confirmed he was fully insured and bonded.

Desrosiers was issued a license with the restriction that paperwork and other business transactions would not take place on or near his residence. The used car business will be Internet based only, with up to three vehicles being warehoused at Mattapoisett Self-Storage when space becomes available.

of pursuing electrical aggregation with the assistance of SRPEDD and Good Energy LP, Conway, MA.

Electrical aggregation is a program by which cities and towns form a collective buying group so that the residents can benefit from a set electrical unit price. The towns nearby that have also agreed to such a plan include Acushnet, Rochester, Marion, and Attleboro to name a few.

Gagne said the aggregation document from Good Energy will be uploaded to the Town's website, with a hardcopy available at both Town Hall and the library. He also said there will be public hearings to fully vet the benefits and receive resident input in the coming weeks. The public comment period begins August 11. Comments can be via email or dropped off at the Selectmen's Office.

Roadwork on the Acushnet Road culvert was updated with Gagne stating that P. A. Landers, Kingston, MA was the low bidder at $578,000.

Casting and curing of the culvert can now begin, he said, noting that one portion of the project would be the most time consuming. He also confirmed that Mass DOT has approved the design, and he believed that the additional hydraulic figures they requested were just a formality.

In other matters, Selectman Paul Silva and Collyer questioned why the Harbormaster's Office was closed at 5:00 pm, given the amount of boating activity taking place during the summer evenings, and why it seemed that on

In the letter, Hathaway asks for the selectmen's support in getting all public hearings regarding the proposed private pier planned for Aucoot Cove to be held locally. ZBA Looks at New Plan, Denies Church's Appeal

Marion Zoning Board of Appeals

By Jean Perry

Members of the Marion First Congregational Church didn't like Christian Loranger's initial design for the five-unit condominium complex he is building next door, even though Loranger's plan complied with the Town's Zoning Bylaws and a building permit was issued.

Some church members, represented by Bill Saltonstall, filed an appeal with the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals back in May to overturn the building permit for the project. During the public hearing for the appeal

CANINE ALLERGIES

My dog spends lots of time chewing and licking at his feet. What does this mean?

Your dog is showing signs of allergies. People with allergies tend to cough and sneeze. Dogs tend to chew, lick and rub.

What can my dog be allergic to and what should I do?

Your dog can be allergic to food, fleas, articles that he contacts such as wool rugs and all of the pollens, molds and dusts that affect people. Try to keep a diary of your dogs itchiness to determine if it occurs all year round or if it is seasonal. Food allergies tend to be constant throughout the year while allergies to pollens tend to be seasonal. Talk to your veterinarian about diet changes, medications and allergy testing to determine what may be most helpful for your pet.

How does chiropractic care help seniors?

Researchers for Topics in Clinical Chiropractic found that for seniors age 75 and over, "Chiropractic users were less likely to have been hospitalized, less likely to have used a nursing home, more likely to report a better health status, more likely to exercise vigorously, and more likely to be mobile in the community. In addition, they were less likely to use prescription drugs."

Further supporting this improvement in quality of life, a study published in the Journal of Manipulative and Physiological Therapeutics found that Medicare patients who had regular chiropractic care "reported making only half the annual number of visits to medical providers compared with the national average for people age 65 years and over."

on June 25, attorney Patricia McArdle argued that the church had no standing to file an appeal and the building permit Building Inspector Scott Shippey issued Loranger was legal and legit. The board took the matter under advisement and then finally voted to deny the appeal on July 23.

However, July 23 was also a public hearing for an amendment to the design of the condominium complex slated for 16 Cottage Street – one that Loranger and his attorney, John Mathieu, said was created to satisfy the church members' concerns and to build a condominium that was more palatable to them. This new plan required approval from the ZBA, as the plan does not conform to the Zoning Bylaws.

The church was concerned about the size of the proposed building and its close proximity to the property line of the abutting church. The new plan slides the proposed building over by ten feet, which affects the parking spaces for the condo complex.

Loranger, owner / agent of Sippican Preservation, LLC, now needs two parking waivers to move forward: one to waive the requirement for two spaces per unit, and the other to allow parking spaces in front of the building.

"We're here tonight, after a lot of negotiations with the neighbors," said Mathieu, "to ... see if the board would approve the amended plan ... to address everyone's concerns."

According to Mathieu, the neighbors reviewed the new plan and were in agreement with the schematics. The neighbors also influenced Loranger's landscaping plan to add a row of shrubs for screening.

"We've done all that we can do to address their concerns," said Mathieu.

When ZBA member Bob Alves asked where the additional parking spaces would be located, Mathieu said they were looking toward street parking around the property. Alves cringed.

ZBA member Betsy Dunn suggested that parking issues are usually within the purview of the Planning Board. Dunn also had her own concerns over the footprint of the building, specifically the basement, which is currently not livable space in the current structure that exists on the lot. She argued that it was not livable space and is not taxed. Shippey corrected her, assuring her that the basement space will be assessed as taxable square-footage.

Saltonstall referred to a letter written by Margie Baldwin on June 20 expressing concern over the plan and the church neighbors' willingness to work with Loranger on a plan they personally would approve of. He stated for the record that the neighbors all approve of the amended plan.

"It's a better plan, and we feel that the roof configuration, the entrance, the parking situation, and the elevations of this building are generally improved," said Saltonstall.

Abutter Christy Dube said she supported the amended plan, but was not in favor of two balconies that would overlook her backyard.

"The two decks that would allow neighbors to look into my backyard," said Dube. "I'm not supportive of that one element.... As the direct abutter, I think my family has the most to live through."

Loranger said he would work with Dube regarding her concern, adding that Dube is married to his first cousin.

Discussion turned back to Planning Board for approval of the parking and having the ZBA make the decision on the parking waivers. Loranger wants to avoid having to go to the Planning Board.

"I would respectfully ask, if there is any way you could do the ruling on the parking, I'd ask you to...." said Loranger.

The public hearing was closed and the matter was taken under advisement for a decision at a later meeting.

Before adjourning, the board voted to deny the church's appeal of the building permit for Loranger's previous plan, with four in favor and one abstention: Dunn.

In a follow-up interview, when asked why she abstained, Dunn refused to comment.

"I choose not to say," said Dunn. "I don't have to tell you why."

When asked if it was because she was a member of the Marion First Congregational Church, the appellant for the abutting condo complex, Dunn again declined to comment. She eventually disclosed that she is a member.

During a follow-up phone call, ZBA Chairman Eric Pierce said Dunn's membership in the church had come up relative to the appeal hearing, but he did not advise her to disclose it.

"It's not up to me to make her [make the disclosure]," said Pierce. "She has to step up and say I'm a member of the church."

Pierce said he is glad Dunn abstained from voting on the matter, even though he acknowledged the church had no standing for an appeal because they wouldn't suffer any damages.

"We're a small town and we often have this person (board member) say, 'I know this person and we have this relationship,'" said Pierce. "And people either not vote or not discuss."

Pierce said he did not have a good answer for why Dunn would initially hide her church membership when questioned after the meeting.

The Wanderer learned Dunn was at one time the treasurer for the First Congregational Church of Marion, and on July 28 The Wanderer called the church and asked for a list of the church officers to confirm that she is no longer the treasurer, but was refused.

"We don't share that kind of information with a newspaper," the secretary stated. After, she confirmed that Dunn is no longer the treasurer, saying Ben Dunham was the current treasurer.

On July 28, The Wanderer also discovered that newbie to the ZBA, member Joanna Wheeler, a non-voting associate member, is the church clerk at the Marion First Congregational Church. Wheeler could not be reached for comment on July 28, and the chairman did not respond to a voicemail on July 28.

The next meeting of the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals is scheduled for August 13 at 7:30 pm at the Marion Town House.

Solar Attorney Questions Board's Purview

Rochester Planning Board

By Jean Perry

The attorney for Clean Energy Solutions, developers of a solar farm located in Marion but with the access site in Rochester, questioned the Rochester Planning Board's assertion that it has jurisdiction over a solar facility in Marion beyond the access site in Rochester on July 28. Planning Board Chairman Arnold Johnson told Attorney Richard Serkey the board reserves the right to look at anything that the Town of Marion's Planning Board might overlook.

Serkey said the Rochester element of the solar facility proposed for Karen and Dennis Clemishaw's property off Perry's Lane is limited to the access site off Tucker Lane. The board had told G.A.F. Engineering, LLC's engineer Bob Rogers that it would not easily grant a list of waivers the applicant had asked for the project. Rogers, who argued that a stormwater waiver is appropriate because no stormwater drainage system that would prompt a site plan review is slated for the site, pointed out that the Planning Board's own engineer hired to review the site found no objection to the waiver for stormwater drainage.

But what flows into Marion, stays in Marion, Rogers told the board.

"Why are we even having a discussion of this in this town?" asked Serkey. Johnson replied, "Because we reserve the right ... to look at anything that involves this project and based on what Marion does and does not do."

Johnson said the board's primary concerns were access, view, decommissioning, and safety.

"Decommissioning?" said Serkey. "I would suggest to you that that is governed by the Town of Marion."

Johnson disagreed.

"Should Marion waive something that shouldn't be waived, or doesn't put something in their decision, we're going to reserve the right to put it in our decision."

The board discussed the waivers, but decided not to take action and continued the public hearing until a later date. Board member Gary Florindo supported the idea of holding off on any waiver approvals.

"I would rather hold as much control as we can," said Florindo. "Not because we want to cause problems for the project, but if things pop up.... If we give them the waivers ... we're going to lose a little bit of control." He continued, "We're not here to control the project ... or tie you up, but if we have to act, we have to hold the right to act ... if something's not right."

Johnson said Rochester's stormwater regulations are stronger than Marion's, and Rogers said the project fully meets the Mass DEP stormwater management standards.

The Planning Board held this site plan review hearing for the project based on an earlier decision that the applicant would have to submit whatever applications and accompanying plans with Marion to Rochester as well.

"My point," said Serkey, "is that each town has separate interests that are within each town's separate jurisdiction." He said both towns do not have jurisdiction over all of the aspects of the project unless it has an impact on that town's particular interests.

But there lies the potential for an abandoned solar farm viewable from Rochester, said Planning Board member Ben Bailey.

"The view would be ugly if it was abandoned and not decommissioned properly," Bailey said.

The board suggested, due to the ambiguous nature of the waivers requested, the applicant should withdraw the letter requesting the waivers and submit a new one.

There was some concern from Johnson regarding the life of the solar arrays and the responsibility of decommissioning an abandoned project, suggesting perhaps the board should require a bond to cover the cost, should the project be abandoned.

Greg Carey from Clean Energy Solutions suggested the board could make decommissioning a condition of the site plan approval. But, conditions without monetary backup, said Johnson, usually get ignored.

"Do you bond every condition ... you place?" asked Serkey.

Of course not, Johnson told him. "It costs money to enforce it. We've seen this in subdivisions," said Johnson. "When someone's holding something significant, they've paid attention."

The project currently calls for an Astroturf-like screening that would attach to the chain link fence around the site for screening, but the board favored more natural screening such as trees and a berm. However, pointed out Rogers, live trees would need water and constant maintenance or they would die.

Abutters to the project present that evening all supported the project, saying they would prefer to see a solar farm at the site than any other commercial project.

As the project moves through both Marion and

ConCom Meets with Candidates

Mattapoisett Conservation Commission

By Marilou Newell

With so many vacancies on various boards and commissions in Mattapoisett, it was surprising to see four residents come forward vying for a single slot made available with the departure of Tom Copps from the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission.

Chairman Bob Rogers invited the candidates to briefly share their backgrounds and reasons for tossing their hats in the ring saying, "Most time it isn't fun being up here."

Richard Francis said he has lived in town for 35 years and works for a local excavating company. He said he wanted to get into town politics and thought that the Conservation Commission was a good place to start.

Dianne Tsitsos told the commission that her background was in international business development and, more recently, she was consulting for local businesses. She said she was not familiar with the Wetlands Protection Act, but felt up to the challenge.

Mike Dubuc, a cranberry farmer, also is seeking a seat on the commission. He is a fairly new member of the community and is presently on the Agricultural Commission. He said he was somewhat familiar with wetlands regulations and was willing to help the commission.

Joan Belknap told the commission she is a science teacher and school principal, is currently working on projects for the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, and was part of the team that wrote the harbormaster plan for the City of New Bedford. She said she is familiar with the Wetlands Protection Act and other waterways regulations.

Rogers told the candidates the commission would review the resumes they had submitted and make a selection at their next regular meeting. He said the next step was sending the Board of Selectmen their chosen candidate for review and appointment. The group was thanked for their willingness to assist the town.

Earlier in the evening, David Davignon of N. Douglas Schneider & Associates, representing Jay and Julie Duker, came before the commission for a continuance of a hearing for the construction of a private recreational pier into Aucoot Cove.

Davignon had come before the board on several other occasions regarding the Duker application, each time being asked for additional information. On this night, Davignon was accompanied by Stan Humphries of LEC Environmental Consultants.

Humphries said the barrier beach that the proposed pier will traverse was acceptable or "to the performance standards" necessary to achieve a Chapter 91 license. On the issue of the beach being more or less viable as a reliable location for the pier, Humphries said, "I think it will take a significant storm to create a breach.... If that comes in the future, this owner has come forward with many ideas for improving the area ... including beach nourishment at the low tide mark...."

Rogers voiced concerns that the pier would one day be disconnected from the shoreline due to the movement of the barrier beach and questioned the wisdom of placing a pier in this location.

to voice their concerns. This is not the first time the Hathaways have attempted to draw attention to the movement of the barrier beach over the decades and the rising waters.

"The high tide washes over that area now," Jane Hathaway said, "...and the water is getting higher and higher with global warming."

Brad Hathaway asked the chairman, "Does the Conservation Commission have any interest in eel grass?" He said the letter LEC had submitted to the commission claimed there wasn't any eelgrass present where the pier will be constructed, but Hathaway countered that his pictures told a different story.

Rogers said a letter from the Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries wasn't strongly worded enough.

"They tell us to do everything in our power to protect eelgrass, but will they stand up if this gets appealed to the DEP?" said Rogers. "I don't feel they'll stand up," he told Hathaway.

Hathaway said, "But if you allow this, then the abutters have to spend the money to appeal. If you deny it, they, the applicant, has to spend the money."

This roused commission member Peter Newton to reply, "Whatever action we take, we take based on our conscience."

Of the pier itself, which Davignon described as one that would be used only for small craft, Jane

Hathaway asked, "You keep saying small craft, but who polices that? ...What if the Dukers sell and someone wants to come in with a big boat in the future?" Newton and Rogers said that the Chapter 91 license would be pulled if that came to pass.

The hearing was continued until August 10, at which time Davignon was asked to revise the engineered drawings to reflect that all beach areas in the construction zone were barrier beaches and to show the wedge anchoring system that will be employed.

Rogers said a determination on the project would take place at the next meeting.

In other business, a Notice of Intent was withdrawn by Daniel and Lisa Craig of 4 Seabreeze Lane.

The commission will issue an Enforcement Order and ask the Craigs, along with all the residents with deeded easement rights through the Craigs' property, to attend the next meeting. The commission has been attempting to work with the Craigs in an effort to have encroached lands remediated. Rogers also said that he would ask the Buzzards Bay Coalition to attend the meeting.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission is scheduled for August 10 at 6:30 pm in the Mattapoisett Town Hall conference room.

Solar Project Will Not Disturb Wetlands

Marion Conservation Commission

By Jean Perry

A community solar farm project developed by Clean Energy Collaborative, slated for a parcel of land off Tucker Lane, will have no impact on wetlands, Wetlands Engineer Mark Arnold told the Marion Conservation Commission July 22.

The wetlands at the parcel consist of cranberry bogs, swampland, and bona fide vegetative wetlands (BVW). Some trees within the BVW will be lopped off at 10 feet to mitigate shading on the solar arrays. Trunks will remain with the root system left intact, avoiding the disturbance of the ground vegetation and shrubs. No heavy machinery or trucks will enter the BVW because the work will be done by hand.

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection did issue a comment on the project plan, voicing concern over impact on the BVW and possible loss of wetlands at the site.

"It's not really a loss," said Arnold about the roughly 3,000 square-foot area of concern. "It's really just an alteration.... We're actually not disturbing any groundcover."

Conservation Commission Chairman Norman Hills requested a copy of a long-term maintenance plan for the project site, but neither Arnold nor the developer's community solar manager, Greg Carey, had one for submission that evening.

Arnold's plan, which he submitted with the Request for Determination, reflected a 25-foot "no-build zone" within the 100-foot buffer zone, but as the commission pointed out, the no-build zone actually extends to 30 feet.

The commission continued the hearing until August 12 and requested that Arnold return with a plan reflecting the accurate 30-foot no-build zone as well as a maintenance plan. Hills – also a member of the Planning Board – said the Planning Board had about 20 or so items that still need to be resolved before that board approves the site review. Hills suggested the ConCom refrain from making a determination on the solar farm project until those Planning Board issues are resolved.

Also during the meeting, the commission issued a negative determination for the Tremont Advent Christian Camp Association, located at 45 Oakdale Avenue, to rebuild an existing structure damaged by snow over the winter. Located within a flood zone, the structure will be raised an additional 4 feet to meet flood zone construction regulations.

In another matter, the commission accepted a change to the previously approved plan for Sid Bowen of 16 Vine Street. Bowen's wife, Angela Watson, present on Bowen's behalf, said the proposed structure, due to zoning setback requirements, will be relocated to the opposite side of the driveway on the property. The footprint, she said, would be smaller, an existing garage that was slated for removal will now remain, and the distance to the drainage area would remain the same.

The commission granted a negative determination for Judith Cope of 16 West Avenue to re-grout a stone groin (a jetty-like structure usually placed to hold sand in place).

The RDA hearing for Chuong Pham was continued until August 12, the next meeting of the Marion Conservation Commission, to be held at the Marion Town House at 7:00 pm.

Ticks, Drugs, and Section 8 Control

Marion Board of Health

By Jean Perry

With the help of an intern, the Marion Board of Health and Public Health Nurse Kathy Downey are getting the word out about tick-borne diseases through multimedia presentations – for all ages from kindergarten to adult – and other tools such as new and more detailed signs placed strategically at popular hiking paths and conservation lands warning the public about ticks.

Intern Jenna Kiridly reiterated that Marion is in fifth place for the highest prevalence of tick-borne diseases in Massachusetts, with incidents in Plymouth County nearly doubling the amount of Lyme disease, Babesiosis, and other tick-borne diseases in Cape Cod.

Kiridly said the Center for Disease Control has now declared Lyme disease an epidemic, with Tri-Town at the epicenter of it all.

"It is an issue that we need to tackle," said

Kiridly, "both by increasing education ... and vigilance and preventative measures."

Kiridly said the multimedia program she developed is sustainable and can be managed after her internship is over.

The signs she designed and placed at hiking trails are "more attention grabbing." Therefore, she said, people will pay more attention.

In other matters, during the July 28 meeting, the board discussed ongoing work unfolding under a grant to fund opioid abuse and abuse prevention programs in the area. Through collecting data and organizing the results, including data collected from the recent youth risk survey undertaken at Old Rochester Regional Junior and High Schools, Downey is now heavily involved in addressing seven main problems divided into two types: use and consequence.

"I've looked at 'use' as more like 'first use,' and 'consequence' as anything after first use," said Downey. She addressed issues like Narcan and how to get more people to possess it to prevent overdose deaths.

The board discussed possible root problems that lead to opioid abuse in youth, such as initial use of painkillers for dental work and orthopedic issues. Downey said, as she has spoken to different people dealing with opioid dependency, that most say their primary care physician was not the initial prescribing doctor. Most of the time, the pills are prescribed through emergency room physicians.

The grant will also fund the development for a school curriculum about drug use prevention and addiction.

Before adjourning, Health Director Karen Walega said Ken Steen, developer of the Marion Village Estates 40B housing development, called her to perform two inspections on two units – inspections Steen said the housing authorities of other towns had demanded. Walega wondered what she should charge for these inspections.

Board members had several different amounts in mind – from $50 to $150 – but the board decided to investigate what they charge for other types of inspections before settling on a price.

The board wondered why the Town of Marion would be asked to perform an inspection they viewed as being state jurisdiction.

"They (the housing authorities) don't know that its brand spanking new, and I didn't find any problems," said Downey.

The next meeting of the Marion Board of Health is scheduled for August 25 at 4:30 pm at the Marion Town House.

We wish we could say farewell to our dependence on poisonous petroleum products that power our motor vehicles and boats. And, we would really like to say "adios" to the Wells gas station that was closed for six years and now is preparing to reopen on a triangular patch of property within the borders of Wareham Road, Wells Road, Mill Street and some wetlands.

However, because a senior healthcare facility (Sippican Healthcare) and a senior/handicapped housing complex (Marconi Village) are abutters; we first have to say "so long" to our outdated perception about the elderly and the handicapped. NO! It is not okay to view us as expendable and unworthy residents by simply deeming the area where we live a "sacrifice zone," out of sight, out of mind. It is easy for these profiteers to ignore us when they do not live in the neighborhood.

As senior citizens, we should not have to bear the disproportionate burden for toxic pollution at the hands of those who will make a quick profit. There are no benefits for us, only the external costs of a gas station: the fumes, the traffic, the tailpipe emissions, the glaring lights and the inescapable noise. Yes, it is easier to ignore the elderly and handicapped for many of us are too old and too weak to fight big corporate gas stations, but those of us with the ability will carry on the struggle in the name of environmental justice.

We invite the pastors of our local churches, the Marion and Massachusetts Department of Health, the Executive Office of Elder Affairs, the Department of Environmental Protection and Coastline Elderly Services to connect with us and take a toxic tour and evaluate the potential human health risks from exposures to chemicals in the ambient air because the risk or probability of developing adverse effects increases with intensity and frequency of exposure to these harmful chemicals.

We have to change our thinking, just because we are elderly and/or physically handicapped does not give anyone the right to disrespect, disregard or devalue us as human beings. Rather than a gas station pushing poisonous chemicals within 100 feet of our front yard, we suggest installing a quiet, non-polluting, clean energy producing solar farm on that property.

Sincerely,

Eileen J. Marum, Marconi Village, Marion

Barking Bulldog Sailing Regatta

Mattapoisett Yacht Club hosted the first annual Barking Bulldog Sailing Regatta this past Saturday outside Mattapoisett Harbor. It was a beautiful sunny day with light/medium shifty winds. The Regatta was held to benefit the new ORRHS Sail Team that was formed this past winter. ORR athletic director, Bill Tilden, joined in the fun by racing on one of the boats. There were two classes of boats participating, Ensigns and J-24s. After the races, MattSail hosted an after party at the home of John and Dawn Mello. Awards were presented to the top three finishers in each division.

This summer, some of the High School team will be racing in 420s in the MYC Tuesday Night Series.

Results from the Barking Bulldog Regatta were:

Ensign Class

- 1- Odyssey, Rick Warren
- 2- One Love, John Mello
- 3- Brou Ha Ha, Steve Clark

J-24

- 1- Fast Food, Bonnie Kirchner
- 2- Wild Thing, Cam Tougas

participation. However, after polling the opinions of those who attended our Annual Dinner Dance fundraiser, the response was overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the tradition. So we're hoping that spectators will come to line the parade route and the participants will decorate their vehicles and floats with a prehistoric or caveman theme or with articles now considered to be prehistoric by today's standards.

Other "Prehistoric" events include a Dinosaur Dig Hunt, Children's Bam Bam Strong Man Contest, Diaper Derby & Costume Contest. Please call Children's event coordinator Lori Souza at 508-997-9100 if you have any questions about these events.

There will also be "Prehistoric" Photo Contest where participants can pull out old photos. Personal drawings will also be allowed and judged in a separate category. We will also be displaying older objects from the past, like old phones, unique items and antiques from earlier times. We hope the community will contribute to the photo contest and display!

Other new and exciting events to this year include:

Thursday, August 13 - Boston Fanueil Hall Magician & Juggler Robert Clarke will perform a non-stop high-energy, crowd-pleasing and action-packed show at 6:15pm.

Friday, August 14 - Rochester welcomes Marion's 16-year old guitarist and musician Aaron Norcross who will perform with his band, Aaron Norcross Jr & The Old Dogs, from 5:00 - 7:00 pm.

The former Ambassador was appointed by President Obama and sworn in by Secretary of State Clinton in July of 2012. He served until July of 2014. Prior to his appointment, he was the Secretary of State's Special Envoy for Eurasian Energy. Having begun his career as an attorney, he also spent many years as a corporate professional, then as a lecturer at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard and Stanford Law School. He has also taught at Brown University and Boston College Law School. During the Clinton Administration, he served as Ambassador to the European Union. rider, you'll enjoy the Ride's gorgeous scenery through coastal villages, farmlands, working waterfront, and colorful cranberry bogs. Choose from a 75-mile route starting in Westport or a 35-mile route starting in Rochester. Both routes end with a seaside finish line party on Quissett Harbor in Woods Hole that includes dinner, drinks, and live music.

The Buzzards Bay Watershed Ride attracts expert and casual bike riders alike. Cyclists ages 12 and over are welcome to sign up. Many riders also form teams with their friends and families. Together, they put their cycling skills to work to raise thousands of dollars for Buzzards Bay. With a lunch stop, water and snack stations along the course, and on-the-road repair technicians available at call, all riders can feel safe and supported.

Each rider raises a minimum of $300, but many participants set loftier fundraising goals. All funds go directly to programs and projects that protect land and clean water around Buzzards Bay.

The directory, published by the League of Women Voters of Marion-Mattapoisett-Rochester, contains the names, addresses and phone numbers of Tri-Town residents as well as community pages that provide contact information for community services. Advertisements by local and area businesses and professionals are found in the yellow pages and make the book a useful shopping service. Please support our advertisers who have made this phone book possible.

Every effort has been made for accuracy in the book. Any corrections, additions or deletions should be sent by email to lwpvphonebook@comcast.net or by postal mail to LWV Phone Book, P.O. Box 812, Marion, MA 02738. The new information will be added to the online version of the book which can be found at www.lwvmmr.org.

Extra copies of the 2015-16 directory are available while they last at The Bookstall in Marion, Mail Boxes in Mattapoisett and at the Plumb Library in Rochester. While a resident's delivered book is free, the League would welcome a donation of any amount for an extra copy.

Tabor Academy to Construct Bleachers

Tabor Academy will begin construction shortly on a set of concrete bleachers to be installed on the hillside above the school's football field. The bleachers will step down from the Spring Street parking area, and span across the 35-yard lines. Part of the plan also includes handicap parking spaces in the Spring Street lot so that everyone can enjoy the games."

Head of School John Quirk said, "We are pleased to be able to provide townspeople and our community, as well as people from visiting schools, with a comfortable and safe place to view the games and to cheer on the competitors. Whether hosting games for Tabor teams or from other area athletic programs, we are excited to know that we'll have much improved seating for the great and

Born in Lackawanna, NY on January 15, 1930, predeceased by her parents Julianna and Fredrich and one son. Survived by her husband and true friend of 66 years Henry De Wilde. The first of their many travels was their honeymoon trip on a 1949 Harley 74. They lived in upstate NY, OH, FL, were fulltime RV-ers for 4 years before returning to upstate NY and finally settling down in Fairhaven, MA to be near family. She is survived by 3 children, 11 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

She was proud to be one of the first female real estate appraisers in the state of Ohio, holding national RM accreditation as well as completing programs at Kent State and Ohio State Universities. She enjoyed cooking, camping, painting, writing poetry, was an avid reader, had a passionate appreciation of classical music, mastered various crafts such as rug braiding and quilling, and was one of the more vocal fans of the Buffalo Bills. Her pioneer spirit was unquenchable, she had a great laugh that could fill a room, and she was known as a woman who stood true to her convictions. She is irreplaceable and is greatly missed by her family.

Per the family's wishes memorial services will be private. Arrangements are with Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Road, Mattapoisett. For online guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

She played an integral part in assisting him as he became founding Headmaster of Brookwood School in Manchester, MA where she taught art appreciation.

Her summers were spent in her beloved Roque Island, ME and Marion, MA. Friends and family remember her compassion and empathy but a wry and feisty humor was her hallmark.

She leaves behind her four children, Rose Dana and her husband Charles Dana of Newport, RI, Evelyn Goodhue and her husband, Francis Goodhue of Marion, MA, David Cutler of Lexington MA, and Christopher Cutler and his wife Mary Cutler of Harvard, MA, nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. MOVIE REVIEW

Film Noir

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

The Third Man*. Starring Joseph Cotten and Orson Welles. Directed by Carol Reed. Running time: 104 minutes. At the Avon Cinema in Providence.

The popular line on The Third Man is that it's a thriller, or even a film noir, but it reads to me as a tragedy about disillusionment -- personal and global. The movie is set in post-war Vienna, and the great city's old-world beauty is crosshatched with scars. One American pursues another: Holly Martins (Joseph Cotten) has landed in Vienna to take a job offered by his old friend Harry Lime (Orson Welles), only to find that Harry has been fatally hit by a car. Apparently it was an accident -- or was it? The story keeps changing: two men supposedly carried Harry's body to the side of the street, but later an unidentified third man is said to have helped move the corpse.

Thus the title, I suppose, and yet it also seems to refer to the overlap that happens when two very different men meet. Holly is a naïve American, the author of many pulp westerns; his outlook on the world has a similar simplistic coloration. Harry is more worldly, an avatar of the moral murk America muddled into during and after the war. Holly would have been shocked by the revelation of bodies strewn like broken toys at Auschwitz; Harry would not. After the movie, Harry was resurrected for 52 radio episodes and 77 television episodes; Holly, poor sap, was not, ultimately being as desolately ignored as he is at the end of the film, when his unrequited love interest (Alida Valli) pointedly disses him in a final shot famous for its bitter understanding of life in Harry Lime's world.

Welles's Lime is given an equally famous intro (a little more than an hour into the film's running time) first only the feet, then his smug moon face briefly illuminated in the shadows of the city. Harry is the villain of the piece, but Welles, like so many others playing villains, acts as if the movie were really about him exclusively, with him as the misunderstood hero. Oh, how pleased he is with himself -- Harry, I mean, not Welles, I guess -- when he uncorks his legendary "cuckoo clock" speech, prefaced by remarks about the meaningless shapes moving around down there. This sort of thing sounded self-serving and callow when Joseph Cotten spewed it six years earlier in Shadow of a Doubt, and it sounds the same now. Harry has made money by consigning children to death with diluted penicillin; his villainy is not savory and amusing but sordid and appalling, however he tries to justify it by nihilistic rhetoric.

The movie's ugliness -- wreaked on architecture by the war and on humanity by greed, as if nothing were learned from the war and people were just going to go on doing the same old stupid exploitative things forever -- is leavened by aesthetic loveliness. Director Carol Reed and cinematographer Robert Krasker shoot almost every scene off-kilter, except for a few establishing shots, but as soon as people start talking the camera tilts. Anton Karas' celebrated zither score finds an unstable balance between sprightly and melancholy. All the elements are in place for a standard classic, but the decay is never far from the lovely surface. In that respect, The Third Man is as perverse as any David Lynch film, and probably more knowing on a political level than most of Hitchcock.

And so we go back to Holly and Harry, the soundalikes, two sides of the same rusted coin. Holly, maybe, was driven to the simplicities of pulp by the incomprehensibility of the war. Harry styles himself an elegant, suave villain, but he's really a squalid little opportunist (Welles as seen in The Third Man is "the most hideous man alive" used by the girls in Heavenly Creatures as their imaginary kingdom's hideously sexy villain), and he closes things out in an appropriate place. In the end, though, who truly wins? Harry has at least been saved from the indignities of prison, and chose his old friend as the one to send him off, whereas Holly, profoundly disillusioned, stands on the side of a road at the end, like the two men who allegedly bore Harry's corpse to the side of another road, or like the third man.

Monroe's most popular and acclaimed films.

The selection for Tuesday, August 4 is Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. Co-starring Jane Russell, the film chronicles two lounge singers from Little Rock, who work their way to Paris on a transatlantic cruise, enjoying the company of eligible men they meet along the way. The colorful 1953 musical features Monroe at her best as guileless fortune teller Lorelei Lee, with Russell as her practical sidekick. A careful balance between musical and comedy, gold digging and sentimental dreams, the film is a classic.

Tuesday, August 11 will feature The Seven Year Itch. Co-starring Tom Ewell and Evelyn Keyes, the film tells the tale of a married man who falls for the blonde bombshell upstairs while his wife is on vacation. The 1955 comedy was directed by Billy Wilder and is mostly immediately recognizable for its iconic image of Monroe standing atop a subway grate, skirts billowing. Based on a popular Broadway play written by George Axelrod, The Seven Year Itch helped turn Monroe from a sensation into a legend.

The 1961 film The Misfits is the third film in the series, to be shown on Tuesday, August 18. It features Monroe as a sensitive divorcée who gets mixed up with modern cowboys roping mustangs in the desert. Directed by John Huston, the film boasts an all-star cast, to include Clark Gable, Montgomery Clift, Eli Wallach and Thelma Ritter. The Misfits was a pioneering work in the development of the American Western - a more MattRec and the Marion Natural History Museum partnered for the second year to provide "Nature Explorers" summer program. The students explored several different locations around Mattapoissett this year. We visited Land Trust property off Mattapoissett Neck Road and Bob Field gave us a tour of his Oyster farming operation. We visited salt marshes, went crabbing, netted many fish at Reservation beach, Aucoot Beach, and Ned's Point. Thanks to the Mattapoissett Harbor Master's office we received a tour of the harbor as a final wrap up to the week. The Nature Explorers group wishes to thank Bob Field for the fun visit, Harbormaster Jill Simmons, and Jim Sullivan for the wonderful tour of the harbor, and the Mattapoissett Land Trust for the use of their property. contemporary, nuanced take on the genre.

The series wraps up on August 25 with the screening of the legendary comedy Some Like It Hot. The 1959 film co-stars Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon as two musicians on the run from gangsters, masquerading as members of an all-girl band. Produced, directed and co-written by Billy Wilder, the broad farce features Monroe as a simple, singer/ukulele player with a soft spot for saxophone players and men with glasses. Along with Curtis' and Lemmon's dynamic performances, Ms. Monroe's charmingly naïve portrayal helped make Some Like It Hot one of the highest regarded comedies of all time.

Best of Marilyn Matinéés will be held in the front room of the Music Hall (164 Front Street in Marion) and offered free of charge to the public. Ample parking is available across the street at Island Wharf. Films begin at 11:00 am, and attendees are encouraged to bring a brown bag lunch to enjoy during the presentation. For more information, contact the SHS at 508-748-1116.

Millicent Library's Teddy Bear Parade

Be sure to join us for the Millicent Library's 31st Annual Teddy Bear Parade on Wednesday, August 5 at 10:00 am. We will join our Teddy Bear Parade Marshall on the Walnut Street side of the Library and march to Union Street and down to Our Lady's Haven, where the residents will be enjoying our parade, then back onto Center to the corner of Walnut once again.

The parade concludes the "Every Hero Has A Story" statewide Summer Reading theme. Our Teen group of loyal volunteers – whose theme this year is "Unmask!" – will be on hand to pass out snacks and juice boxes for the children.

Daisy D. Dots will be there once again to paint faces during the festivities.

Lakeville Arts & Music Festival

The annual Lakeville Arts & Music Festival will take place this year, rain or shine, on Saturday, October 3 between 10:00 am and 4:00 pm. To date we have some entertainment news to share.

The Starry Night Duo, who will play inside the old Town House, includes Barry Simon on hammered dulcimer and Patty Simon on flutes and mountain dulcimer. This local pair plays an eclectic variety of music from lively Celtic and Appalachian tunes to fresh arrangements of classical and sacred pieces, plus soulful originals. They have released three CDs to date.

Town Crier George Hebert of West Bridgewater will be roaming the grounds letting everyone know what the activities are and where to locate them. One activity he will help you find is the Silent Auction table so you can bid on some of the great Silent Auction items.

As always, there will be artisans and craftsmen selling their own skillfully handcrafted work and nonprofit organizations ranging from community service organizations to environmental groups there to educate the public on their causes. For anyone interested in participating in the festival, email the Craft Committee at Lakeville.Fest.Crafts@hotmail.com to have an application emailed to you. To ensure diversity, we limit the number of artisans and crafters in certain categories. (To date, the jewelry and soap categories are closed.)

The Festival is free! To make the Festival possible every year, the organizers would like to thank some of our many sponsors: Eastern Bank, Bristol County Savings Bank, HarborOne Bank, and Acushnet Federal Credit Union, to name just a few.

Perhaps you would like to volunteer on October 3? It's a fun way to enjoy the festivities. You can spend as little or as much time as you have available on that day to help out. Contact us at LakevilleFestival@hotmail.com for details.

A Bad Year For Tomatoes

Marion Art Center Players announce their summer production, A Bad Year For Tomatoes by John Patrick, a hilarious comedy in two acts. Directed by Rex McGraw, the show will open on Thursday, August 6 and runs on Friday, August 7, Saturday, August 8, Friday, August 14 and Saturday, August 15. All shows start at 7:30 pm.

The Story: Fed up with the pressures and demands of her acting career, the famous Myra Marlowe (played by Cynthia Latham) leases a house in the tiny New England hamlet of Beaver Haven and settles down to write her autobiography. She is successful in turning aside the offers pressed on her by her long-time agent (played by Jay Ryan), but dealing with her nosy, omnipresent neighbors (played by Suzie Kokkins, Suzy Taylor and Susan Sullivan) is a different matter. In an attempt to shoo them away and gain some privacy, Myra invents a mad, homicidal sister—who is kept locked in an upstairs room, but who occasionally escapes long enough to scare off uninvited visitors. The ruse works well, at first, but complications result when the local handyman (played by Thom O'Shaughnessy) develops an affection for "Sister Sadie" (really Myra in a fright wig) and the nosy lady neighbors decide it is their Christian duty to save the poor demented Sadie's soul. In desperation, Myra announces that her imaginary sibling has suddenly gone off to Boston, which brings on the sheriff (played by Mark Letourneau) and the suspicion of murder! Needless to say, all is straightened out in the end, but the uproarious doings will keep audiences laughing right up to the final curtain, and then some.

This play is the perfect evening out in the air-conditioned theater at the Marion Art Center. Get a group of four together and reserve a cabaret table! Tickets are $12.50 for MAC members and $15 for general admission. Guests are invited to bring their own refreshments. Cabaret tables are available for reserved parties of four or

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A bit of Arian contrariness could be keeping you from getting all the facts. Turn it off, and tune in to what you need to hear. It could make all the difference this week.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Getting an answer to a vital question involving financial matters might take longer than you'd expected. A new factor might have to be dealt with before anything can move forward. Be patient.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Use your good sense to see what might really be driving a colleague's workplace agenda. What you learn could lead to a new way of handling some old problems.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A change of mind might once again turn out to be a good thing. True, most of your co-workers might not like the delay, but as before, they might appreciate what follows from it.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You revel in golden opportunities this week. One cautionary note, though: Be careful to separate the gold from the glitter before you make a choice. Someone you trust can help.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Marriage is important this week, as are other partnerships. Don't let yourself be overwhelmed by sentiment. Instead, try to steer a path between emotion and common sense.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Dealing with someone who has let you down is never easy. But the sooner you're able to clear up this problem, the sooner other problems can be successfully handled.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A "friend" who is willing to bend the rules to gain an advantage for both of you is no friend. Reject the offer and stay on your usual straight and narrow path.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) After all the effort you've been putting in both on the job and for friends and family, it's a good time to indulge your own needs. The weekend could bring a pleasant surprise.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You might want to do something new this weekend. Close your eyes and imagine what it could be, and then do it, or come up with the closest practical alternative.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Your good deeds bring you the appreciation you so well deserve. But, once again, be careful of those who might want to exploit your generous nature for their own purposes.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Trolling for compliments isn't necessary. You earned them, and you'll get them. Concentrate this week on moving ahead into the next phase of your program.

BORN THIS WEEK: Meeting new people usually means you're making new friends. People want to be reflected in your shining light.

Tri-Town Area Mentors Needed

What kind of place could Wareham become if all children attended school, set goals, rejected peer pressure, and had the confidence to dream and succeed in life? This is the goal of the Big Brothers Big Sisters Program of Child & Family Services.

Communities need to provide positive role models for youth, and one local program has proven successful. Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) organization's mission is to "change children's lives for the better, forever." BBBS fills a critical gap by emphasizing strong social bonds in children's lives and by providing positive adults to support children in need.

Who are the "Littles"? According to Deanna Bodeau, Program Coordinator for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Child and Family Services, those currently waiting are ages 7-14 and most come from either single parent homes or live with their grandparents.

What is the time commitment? "Bigs" are asked to spend four hours per month with their "Little." This sounds like a lot, but it's not. Pick a Saturday, grab ice cream, go to the park, the zoo, stop by the library, and before you know it, it's been four hours! So if you're really busy, one day a month is really all it takes!

What do matches do together? This is all based on your "Little" and their unique interests. You can go bowling, see a movie, or play mini-golf. You might surprise them on occasion by taking them somewhere truly amazing, like a show, the theatre, or an amusement park. This is your chance to show them a world they have never dreamed of.

How does BBBS help kids? Children aim higher, enhance their confidence, and learn to create stronger, more positive relationships. A strong role model helps them avoid risky behaviors (drop-out, drug/alcohol abuse, etc.). A positive and encouraging mentor also helps children obtain and retain educational success – one of the greatest challenges facing youth in Wareham today.

What can you do to help? Contact Deanna

Bourne Wareham Art Show

The Bourne Wareham Art Association will hold their 51th Annual Art Show and Sale at Buzzards Bay Park, Bourne, MA on Saturday, August 8, from 10:00 am to 3:30 pm. The Art Association was organized in 1963 by a group of artists and art lovers in conjunction with the 50th Anniversary celebration of the opening of the Cape Cod Canal. The purpose of the group is to promote the appreciation of fine arts in the Canal area. The Association has held an art show every year since 1963 to benefit annual BWAA art achievement awards for local art students. This year, awards were presented to Danielle Simpkin and Katie Motta, both students at Apponequet Regional HS.

Visit the show and meet local artists who will be exhibiting award winning original fine art working all mediums as well as photography, jewelry and giclee prints. For more information or an application for the show, please contact Carole Raymond @ caroleeraymond@gmail.com. Final registration date is August 1.

The proceeds from this golf tournament will help in allowing more children to be able to play hockey. It will also help defer the cost of equipment and ice time.

The golf classic and raffles will take place at Bay Pointe Golf Club, 19 Bay Pointe Drive, Onset, MA on Saturday, August 1 with a 1:00 pm shot gun start time! Cost is $500 per foursome; $125 per single person. For additional information, please contact Ben Hathaway, President, at 774-454-1114 or Jenny Wilson, Head of Fundraising, at 774-766-9436.

Tax Relief Grants Available in Marion

Applications are now available to help qualified Marion residents with their 2015-2016 property taxes through the Marion Community Fund of the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts (CFSEMA).

All applications must be received in the Community Foundation's offices by 3:00 pm on Friday, August 28. Applications are available at the Town Hall in Marion, the Council on Aging, and the Community Foundation, 30 Cornell Street, New Bedford, MA 02740, or by calling 508-996-8253. They can also be downloaded at www.cfsema.org.

The Marion Community Fund was established in 1999 by a private donor to provide qualified Marion homeowners with property tax relief. The Fund's goal is to preserve the town's diversity and character by providing property tax relief for Marion homeowners who are a key part of the town's makeup and who might be forced to leave Marion due to higher taxes. There are no age restrictions on this grant.

The Marion Community Fund hopes people of all ages who qualify will apply. If you are a Marion homeowner, have owned your home for at least one year, have earned income of less than $25,000 (single) or $37,500 (married), and have assets of $46,000 or less (single) or $63,000 or less (married), excluding your home, you may be eligible for tax relief. All payments will be made to the Town of Marion and credited toward the grant recipient's tax bill.

through the coming decade and beyond. Community input is essential for producing a valuable, constructive MP. All interested in having a "voice" should plan to attend the Public Forum on Saturday, August 1 at 9:00 am in the Marion Music Hall. The discussion will be on housing, economic development, and land use.

The MP addresses housing and business development, infrastructure needs, natural resource protection, and public service plans. Massachusetts requires that municipalities update their MP every 8-10 years and makes it a prerequisite to obtain state funding for community development. Marion last updated its MP in 2006.

The Planning Board is leading the MP process, assisted by professionals from the Southeast Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD) and a recently approved Town Planner. In addition, three advisory committees, composed of selected community members and representatives from town boards, will provide further insight on specific topics. Please mark your calendar today for this important Public Forum. Your engagement, input, and participation will ensure Marion's MP will protect our Town's special charm while meeting the future needs of our residents. For more information, visit www.srpedd.org/marion-master-plan.

The Annual Marion Social Club at 44 Pumping Station Rd. will hold a BBQ dinner for Marion elders on August 16 at 1:00 pm. Doors will open at noon with door prizes for everyone. The Baywatchers program is the largest volunteer-based coastal monitoring effort in New England. Through the Baywatchers program, the Coalition monitors all of Buzzards Bay's major rivers, coves and harbors – an area covering more than one-quarter of the Massachusetts coast. The data collected through the Baywatchers program form the foundation of the Coalition's efforts to restore and protect Buzzards Bay.

Baywatchers volunteer approximately one morning per week from May to September at a designated location in their community. Using a water testing kit, Baywatchers collect samples and measure salinity, temperature, water clarity and dissolved oxygen at the site. Baywatchers receive training prior to volunteering and do not need a science background.

If you're interested in becoming a Baywatcher, contact Director of Monitoring Programs Tony Williams at 508-999-6363 ext. 203 or williams@savebuzzardsbay.org. For more information about the Baywatchers program, visit www.savebuzzardsbay.org/baywatchers.
